ATCO Electric boosts modernization and renovation of Castor Community Hall

CASTOR, Alberta — Castor's efforts to upgrade and renovate its community hall received a $10,000 boost from ATCO Electric today.

"Renovations and upgrades to the aging hall will ensure area residents have a quality and modern facility for social functions, gatherings and meetings," explained Allan Gano, ATCO Electric's District Manager, in making the donation to the Castor Community Hall board and Castor Town Council.

"ATCO's donation will help address the need for a local community gathering place in the district," Gano added. "The new facility – an important part of the community's social fabric – will help strengthen the sense of community and kinship among area residents."

"The hall will be in the heart of the Castor and District community and will benefit the town and surrounding district for many years," further explained Chris Fournier, ATCO Electric's Senior Serviceman in Castor. "We are pleased to support projects that not only enrich the quality of life of our service communities but also enhance community spirit and strength."
